FLYERS FOUND AFTER ALL HOPE VANISHES ON COAST

Drift Carries Airship Hundreds of Miles to Point Near Kauai, Island West of Honolulu

An hour passed. Then the search was begun that was to continue more than nine days before attaining success.

The men on the PN-3, No. 1, were especially chosen for their fitness for the task. Commander Rodgers, flight commander, his former commandant of the Navy air station at Pearl Harbor and was well acquainted with flying conditions in and about the Hawaiian Islands.

FLEET IN SEARCH

Before its conclusion today, the search for the seaplane had extended until it was the principal work of a large section of the United States fleet.

As has been told, the Aroostock, aircraft carrier, and the Tanager, minelayer, were the first ships to start the search. This was shortly before 9 p.m. island time, on Sunday, the 1st inst., and all daylight remaining that day were few, but organization work made great strides during the night and on Wednesday morning, with flying conditions in and about the Hawaiian Islands started in full swing.

The waters in which the seaplane was believed to have alighted were divided among aviators, naval officers, airmen and submarine crews. Several groups of airplanes already had been sent to the island of Maui to take the air as the PN-3 approached and escort her to Pearl Harbor.

These airplanes were at once pressed into service and a temporary base for them was established at Lahaina, Maui. Submarines also rapidly gathered at Mile and Pearl Harbor also were assigned to search territory to hunt over.

The destroyer Farragut was the next ship ordered into the search. At 10 a.m. yesterday, twenty-seven knots an hour, was ordered as long as her fuel held out. The Farragut plowed great circles through the territory where the waves were believed to have hidden the seaplane, but without result.

Other ships that had been stationed on the line of sight also were withdrawn and started for "No Man's Land," the "wrecked wagon," the aircraft carrier Longley.

CALLS OFF NEW FLIGHT

This action automatically postponed the flight of the third seaplane intended for the San Francisco-Pearl Harbor flight, the PN-1, built in Seattle, and employing the same transatlantic feature. Mechanics were unable to get the PB-1 into shape to start with the PN-3.

As a result the tandem flight still continues, undergoing tests here in San Francisco.

Arrival of the Langley in Hawaiian waters took the searching operations into their final successful stage. The U.S. Langley, which had been detached from the Aroostock, and eleven destroyers were assigned to search north and east of the islands. The Langley followed a center course, while the others fanned out from side to side, outlining in the air a giant gridiron.

The submarine divisions, to whom goes the honor of finding the missing plane, were assigned to the coast channels and waters in the immediate vicinity of the islands. They were assisted by aircraft and available surface ships from Pearl Harbor.

The watery areas south and west of the islands were patrolled by two squadrons of destroyers. This was the division of forces which resulted in the finding of Rodgers and his men.

EQUIPPED FOR EMERGENCY

The seaplane PN-3 No. 1 was equipped with food and water for emergencies. Each man had eighteen sandwiches, three pints of coffee, three pints of soup, twenty-four four-lumps of sugar, six oranges and four canteens of water for regular rations on the planned twenty-six-hour trip.

In addition to the regular drinking water, a quantity of water was carried for use in the seaplane's engine. It is possible that this reserve supply will be profitably used before the birds were found.

The seaplane drifted off the coast of California, apparently for the PN-3, No. 1. It was one of two, the same type recently turned out in the Navy's own aircraft plant in Maryland and brought to the Pacific Coast, where it was assembled at the San Diego base. Its companion was the PN-4, No. 2, the flight for Hawaii under Lieut. Snody. Snody was forced down when 300 miles out by failure of the oil pressure system. The PN-3, which had been flying in view of a fairly good food and water supply, would not mean that their physical condition had been impaired.

Emergency radio call, Lieut. Weyant said, consisted of thirty gallons of water, canned beans, hardtack, dried bread, and prepared chocolate, sufficient to last for several days.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—The great seaplane piloted by Commander John Rodgers from San Pablo Bay on Monday, August 31, to the Point near Kauai, was known as the PN-3, No. 1. It was one of two, the same type recently turned out in the Navy's own aircraft plant in Maryland and brought to the Pacific Coast, where it was assembled at the San Diego base. Its companion was the PN-4, No. 2, the flight for Hawaii under Lieut. Snody. Snody was forced down when 300 miles out by failure of the oil pressure system. The PN-3, which had been flying in view of a fairly good food and water supply, would not mean that their physical condition had been impaired.

Emergency radio call, Lieut. Weyant said, consisted of thirty gallons of water, canned beans, hardtack, dried bread, and prepared chocolate, sufficient to last for several days.

MONSTER PLANE

It was a monster among planes, being surpassed only by the PB-1. From the keel to the top of the upper wing it stood sixteen feet, eight inches, and spanned a length over all from bow to stern of forty-nine feet, two inches. The spread of the giant upper wings was seventy-two feet, ten inches and the lower wings, forty-eight inches. The total area of wing surface was 1217 square feet.

The engines of the plane consist of two 500-horsepower Packard motors, each of which were two-bladed with a diameter of thirteen feet. The fuel carried was over 1000 gallons of gasoline. In five days, located in the rear of the hull, were tanks below the engines.

The plane had vanished, and radioed to the Tanager:

"Plane No. 1 probably down between Aroostock and Tanager. Search back to course toward Aroostock. Plane last heard at station at Wallup."

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]
LONDON, Sept. 16.—High shoes for women after banishment for eleven years again will be fashionable in London this winter.

The shoes will not be the plain black and tan ones of years ago, but will be of highly colored leathers and snake and crocodile skins. Jeweled and other fancy heels will add a piquant touch to them.

Men's footwear also will undergo some radical changes—green, red, blue, and brown—to match clothing worn. Also the heels will be higher than usual.

Delegation to the Diamond Jubilee celebration at San Francisco aboard the City of Los Angeles, the palatial liner of the Los Angeles Steamship Company, is scheduled to arrive at noon today having started this morning. The ship, regularly engaged in the run between Los Angeles and Honolulu, made a special trip to San Francisco, carrying 1,000 representative citizens from Los Angeles to participate in the Admission Day celebration held in San Francisco last Wednesday.

The long voyage to San Francisco was started at midnight on Wednesday, and according to officials of the steamship company, the vessel will arrive at the harbor in early morning. In San Francisco the vessel and the Los Angeles delegation were accorded an official reception by the Mayor of the Bay City, and throughout the day the ship was open to the public.

The Los Angeles delegation which made the voyage on the City of Los Angeles included Mayor and Mrs. Cryer, Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Crowley, Police Commissioner, R. L. Heath, Councilman Boyle, Workman, Walter B. Allen, President of the Harbor Commission; City Engineer John G. Shaw and R. W. Friedman, president of the Board of Commissioners. Radio messages were sent yesterday afternoon to Mayor Cryer and Mr. Friedman apprising them of the arrival of Vice President Dawes on the Pacific Ocean, in the morning, in order that they might participate in his welcome to Los Angeles.

The huge steamship will be immediately prepared for her regular voyage to Honolulu, having been due to leave Los Angeles Harbor at noon tomorrow with a capacity passenger list.

KLAN FIGHT
IN GERMANY
CONFIRMED

Three Americans Held for Trying to Establish Branch of Order

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
BERLIN, Sept. 19.—News of the arrest of the American founders of the German branch of the Ku Klux Klan, or "Knights of the Flaming Cross," has been confirmed by Police Vice-President Friedensburg. The news first divulged by yesterday's evening newspaper was received with general skepticism, but about 10 in the German Foreign Office informed the American Embassy of the complicity of three Americans of the Klan. Otto Steinlein, 44 years of age, and Gotthard Strohschein, 36, father and son, are of German origin and former Communists. They were arrested in Silesia. The third American, Don Burton Gray of Hillside, Ill., left Germany three weeks ago.

The Embassy considers it possible the three Americans have been in Germany since 1921, have lost their American citizenship.

Friedensburg confirms all the details as probable, namely, that Americans with American money helped to spread the organization of the Klan in Germany, that the ritual is a literal copy of the Ku Klux ritual, that the oath taken by an American was recited on a German Imperial flag and that there is a blood test to determine whether the candidates are of American or German origin. The members, of whom a list was captured by the police, number about 1,000. They are scattered throughout Germany and are mostly middle-aged, honest, moderate, different from the members of the various organizations of patriotic youth which honeycomb Germany.

The elder Strohschein, a Protestant, practices. The police say that twenty of the leaders have been arrested, but not one of them seems to be in direct communication with the American Ku Klux Klan or with the United Klan.

The motive for the two Americans in bringing the organization to Germany has not been determined. They were recruited when they were sent by the American organization, but this has not been proved.

SCREAM CALLS OUT FIRE TRUCK

Painting Woman Near Cause of Accident When Brakes Give Way

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
FALL RIVER, (Mass.) Sept. 10.—Maria Ferreira, of 284 Alder street, who for some reason or other screamed "fire" before she drifted off into unconsciousness, fainting from the terrific heat of the day, was the cause of giving Truck No. 4 of the city's fire department the wildest ride of its career in the East End, when the brake rods gave way going down hill. No one was injured, although the members of the company and those of Engine No. 7 found a gray hair or two beneath their helmets as a result of a sideswiping collision between the two machines. Some one sent in the alarm when the woman shouted.

In a desperate effort to relieve the Riffian pressure on Tetuan, Gen. Petain launched an aviation and artillery bombardment against the enemy fortifications along a 100-mile front directly north of Fez, and a column of 50,000 picked French troops, led by tanks, armored cars and motorized machine guns, followed. The columns of bombing and strafing planes started down the Ouergha River Valley this afternoon in the general direction of Tarhant.

The American Legation under Lieut.-Col. Charles Sweeney, bombed the town of Chechecuen, the Riffi front on the western front, for the second time today.

In spite of the French offensive the Spanish are in a bad way today, both on the Tetuan front and in the Alhucemas Bay region, because the French government has definitely decided not to invade the Spanish protectorate frontier. The last strip of the French zone along the Spanish frontier has been pacified. French aerial and naval fleets continue to operate in the Riffi.

The city of Tetuan is still cut off, but Gen. Rivara has taken personal command there and radioed Madrid for unlimited reinforcements.

The Riffians have captured Ben Karrish Mountain which commands Tetuan, two miles away, and from there dropped shells on the town.

The Spanish have concentrated every airplane, machine gun on the Tetuan, Alhucemas front. About 200 planes are bombing the Riffian artillery and air bases in the mountains day and night. The Spanish have sent every experienced soldier at Tetuan to participate in the Alhucemas operation and replaced them with young recruits from Africa without experience.

Additional troops who were to land at Alhucemas have been returned to Tetuan.

At the town of Fendak, two miles between Tetuan and the international zone, a Spanish column under Gen. Diaz has had 200 killed yesterday trying to attack in the Spanish line. The roads from Tetuan to Ceuta and Tangier have been closed in a dozen times in the past three days, but the Spanish have been repelled by the Spanish columns with great difficulty.

All ordinary traffic with Tetuan has been stopped except for only military columns headed by armored cars trying to get through.

The Spanish government officially announced that Gen. Fernando Varela, colonel of 1,000, has not landed at Cape Guilletes. This is interpreted to mean that the column was rushed to Tetuan at the last moment.

Gen. Sanz, a column of 15,000 men at the tip of the western promontory has postponed its advance on account of the Tetuan operation.

Gen. Sanz has 200 aircraft and airplanes. This column is in a most dangerous position because it cannot be supplied and cannot be withdrawn.

Sanz is bottled up by the Riffs.

The mountains between Gen. Saro and Adhir are almost impregnable.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Commissioner Landis today sent out invitations to the officials of the two leading clubs in the National and American Leagues to meet him on the 12th inst. at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Philadelphia, to arrange the details for the coming world's series. The invitations were sent to the New York and Pittsburgh clubs of the National League and Washington and Philadelphia of the American League.

CLIMB OF ATHLETICS IS HALTED

Yanks Split Twin Bill With Macks; Bucs Gain as Giants Are Idle

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE
CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—The climb of the Philadelphia Athletics toward the pinnacle of the American League was temporarily halted today when they split a doubleheader, 7 to 8 and 5 to 4, with the Yankees, the New Yorkers winning the first game. As the Senators were idle they still had no game.

The standings:

Washington	85	48	.639
Philadelphia	87	54	.588
Pittsburgh	84	52	.627
New York	77	59	.566

SOME ROMAN BOYS AT PLAY

The little action here portrayed shows Capt. Francis Tappan, on the left, and Clarke Galloway busily engaged in scooping up an elusive pig skin. They are both tackled on L. A. High's football team and are demonstrating what will happen to any wandering balls in any of the games they play in.

PREPS IN EARNEST PRACTICE

High School Footballers Work Hard; Pre-Season Games on Soon

The annual thud of heavy shoes on pigskin and the rumble of falling bodies incased in moleskins added a new note to the roar of the city as high school football got under way in earnest. Getting into gear on any previous season practically overhauled in the city has charges toughened and ready for scrummaging within a week. There will be little time wasted on the "funnies" this year. Scrimmages and practice games will start sooner than ever before.

Coach George Branham at Polytechnic is busily engaged in building a staunch line to defend the five veteran backfield men he has in the fold this year. The Washingtonians are hotly hitting in a mass of dust from 5 o'clock until 5:30 every day as more than 200 candidates show each other around doing their best. Laugerman, Murphy, Griffiths, Carroll, Branham are all lettermen, but they all made their initials in the backfield.

Graduation and eligibility put holes in both line and backfield at Los Angeles High, but Eddie Rich isn't worrying. A flock of husky boys from last year's second team have come up to fill the gap of two or three good lightweights, so he can still fill things. Rich has

Salt Lake Club Makes Five Runs in Ninth Inning to Trim Vernon Outfit, 7 to 4

A five-run Salt Lake fusillade in the ninth inning ruined Ed Bryan's peace of mind and the Tigers' chances of victory at Washington Park yesterday when the Bees nosed the Bengals out, 7 to 4. Until the final frame, which opened with Vernon leading, 4 to 2, Ed Bryan had held the Bees' wall in check since relieving Wess Ludolph in the second, and had also contributed a couple of timely hits that resulted in the / Tigers making three runs.

New Orleans Heavyweight to Meet George Godfrey in Open-Air Fight at Wrigley Field

BY PAUL LOWRY

Definite decision to match Martin Burke, the New Orleans heavyweight, with George Godfrey in his big open-air show at the new Wrigley ball park the 29th inst. was made yesterday by Jack Doyle after a conference with his matchmaker, "Wad" Wadham, and Burke's manager, Lou Diamond, who arrived with his fighter Wednesday night.

After the articles were signed at a slight disadvantage when he faced Godfrey, Burke sinks at 220 pounds. But it is said for Burke that he does better against big men than small ones, so George may have a long shot at his onions.

Burke lit out for Elsinore, where he will start conditioning himself for the forthcoming tussle. He reports himself in good shape, but believes the environment of the hot springs will help in the acclimation process.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10. Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup of Wilmington, Del., unleashed a command of tennis technique that eliminated Miss Elizabeth Ryan of California, the favorite, in the semifinals of the women's Middle States tournament today at the Philadelphia Cricket Club.

It took eighteen games for Marion to beat Ryan in the second set, but the third was won handily, 6-2. Miss Ryan opened by annexing the first set, 6-3. Today's victory qualified Mrs. Jessup to meet Mrs. Mollie Mallory of New York, defending champion, in the finals tomorrow. In the meantime, Mrs. Mallory maintained her supremacy clip by defeating Miss Molly Thayer of Philadelphia, 6-3, 8-6, 6-2.

RUTH, MEUSEL AND GEHRIG HANG UP NEW HOMER RECORD

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10. Meusel, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, today accomplished afeat phenomenal in baseball—that of hitting successive home runs in a single inning.

The record books reveal that the trick has been turned on four previous occasions in the major leagues, but not since 1902. In that year, within a span of twenty-eight days, three successive home runs were chased by batters in two different games.

The Yankee slammers did their bit in the course of today's game with the pennant-hunting Athletics at Shibe Park. Connie Mack's prize pitcher, Sam Gray, was on the mound.

BOROTRA GIVES TILDEN STRENUOUS AFTERNOON

Big Bill Forced to Five Sets in Order to Win; Johnston Has Easy Time With La Coste

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10.—America emerged triumphant today from the opening matches for the Davis cup but only after France had given the defenders a spectacular and thrilling struggle. Jean Borotra, the whirling dervish of the courts, came close to giving his country undreamed-of tennis glory when he forced William T. Tilden, the American champion, to a sensational five-set battle before yielding, 4-6, 6-0, 2-6, 9-7, 6-4, while his countryman, Rene La Coste, carried William M. Johnston to another stirring finish, losing, 6-1, 6-1, 6-8, 6-3.

Not in six years of victorious Davis Cup play has the United States withstood a more strenuous fight than she met today.

France had the glory of the day, for in a single afternoon, she came close to achieving what was looked upon as the impossible.

The fact that the Americans were overwhelmed by the French meant nothing to them.

Borotra's heroic fight for victory over Tilden was the high spot of the day and France's real hopes were with him.

The Basque's downfall, followed by La Coste's setback, left France virtually hopeless. Victory in only one of the remaining three sets would clinch the cup for this country.

DOUBLES TODAY

Tomorrow, in the doubles, America will pin her hopes on R. Norris Williams and Vincent Richards. They will face Borotra and La Coste, who must win to prolong the decision until Saturday, when Tilden is slated to face La Coste in the concluding singles matches.

While La Coste did not make his stand against Johnston today under the American had gained a commanding lead, and yesterday played Tilden to a standstill from the start. Losing two of the first three sets, Tilden's back was to the wall in the fourth and fifth and refreshments.

College President Reveals Practice of Bribing Star Gridders

DR. APPLE GIVES VIEWS ON FINANCING OF ATHLETES

Franklin and Marshall President Decries Buying of High School Stars by Universities

This is the first of a new series of six articles, written by the president of one of the oldest colleges in America, on the evils of the present methods of some college football finance. President Apple, himself a veteran of the football field and an enthusiast for the game, believes that the time has come for a housecleaning. His articles supplement the brilliant series by "Graduate Manager," which have been published by The Times during the past fortnight.]

With certain qualifications as to conclusions, but not as to fact, I most heartily agree with the author of "The Story of a Graduate Manager," in his citation of growing evils of commercialism—I use the word advisedly—in American college football.

During my sixteen years' experience as a college president, I have noted with increasing alarm the growth of the system of raiding, subsidizing and virtually bribing athletes. Perhaps I should have said actually bribing athletes, because one must draw fine distinctions if he insists that there is any essential difference between giving a boy tuition, board and room, fraternity dues, books and workless jobs, and actually giving him money. In fact, if this matter is ever threshed out before any qualified official body, I think I can go farther than the Graduate Manager in letting in the light. But I shall insist on placing it in the blame where it belongs.

While the graduate manager admits that alumni managers and coaches resort to all sorts of subterfuge in getting and maintaining players, he virtually justifies and tries to shift the odium of these conditions to faculty, committee and administrative heads of colleges. His reasoning is that the big business organization of football gives better preparation for life than does his classroom work. He cites instances of mediocre men who have gained material success through their prominence in athletics, and insists that their teachers could give them nothing comparable to this in value.

Here I challenge both his facts and his conclusions. I refuse to believe that any of his "handsome dandies" have ever taken the road to success. I refuse to believe that their athletic distinction is in any way a substitute for the sound character, training and discipline of honest college work.

With the foregoing qualifications I can go all the way with the graduate manager. The big cities are a menacing and a growing evil, and they demand earnest consideration and courageous action on the part of every college executive and the present citizen who has regard for the great traditions of American education.

WHY NOT TELL THE TRUTH?

I am writing these articles under my own signature because I agree with the graduate manager when he says the whole discussion ought to be open in the open air. He himself appears to have not the courage of his own brave convictions, as he writes anonymously. While my own experience is with a small college and its relation to a group of students, I am going to make a general statement about the general question of honest athletics as concerned. I shall cite instances from sixteen years' experience, as a coach and student in as far as I can draw only on documents, observation or proved facts. I shall not name individuals or colleges, as obviously the owners of the property have the right to reply, with the facts before them, before any recourse to personalities. This is not practicable or advisable in a newspaper discussion. I want to say this much.

DETROIT WINS AND LOSES

DETROIT. Sept. 10.—After losing the first game, 6 to 1, Cleveland made it one-all for the afternoon by defeating Detroit, 10 to 2, in the second game of the double-header today. Buckle pitched and hit, featuring the second game. The portly Indian southpaw held Detroit to four hits and smashed out two home runs. Two more scored ahead of him on his first look at America's most modern baseball plant.

The fact that the Seals are being allowed to grow in the major leagues seems to bear out the contention that the Los Angeles and San Francisco owners have buried the hatchet. On the surface of things, anyway, this appears to be the case.

It is not surprising that these boys get weird ideas of what is important and what isn't. Nor is it surprising that these save standards tend to spread through the entire student body, regardless of participation or non-participation in athletics.

Naturally, as an educator, I am concerned first of all with the basis of the problem on which I conceive to be the business of a college—education. In America, education means preparation for service and effectiveness in a democracy. I believe that the ultimate for athletes with the resultant lowering of under-graduate standards, is subversive of this ideal.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 10.—Supporting Aldridge's brilliant pitching with the hitting of his and St. Louis' hitting, the League-leading Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 9 to 5, in the first game of their series here to date.

For six innings, Aldridge was invincible, turning back the Cardinals without a hit, while his mates hammered St. Louis and Dickey. Billie, a double in the seventh finally broke Aldridge's string of hitless innings.

Aldridge weakened in the ninth when the Cardinals filled the bases and Jimmie Foxx, first baseman, cleared them with a home run, his twentieth of the season. Shean was rushed to his rescue and prevented further scoring. Score:

BEES WIN BY LATE RALLY

Donald, who took up the Bee catching business when Hines was out, put Cook, then contributed a hefty hit down the left-field line that scored Frederick and put LaFever on third. McDonald went to third, and the Bee scored again for a second helping, lined to McDowell to end the notorious frame.

Stroud set the Tigers down in one-two-three order in the home of the ninth, not letting the Bengal get a rally half-way started.

REES SCORE FIRST

The Bees scored first in the second, knocking London out of the game. O'Donnell and Erickson singled and Lawrence walked, filling the sacks. Leslie's sacrifice fly brought O'Donnell home. When Luellen walked Cook to again fill the bases, Ellis sent in Bryan, the right fielder, who had been working out in the gymnasium. What would Schlocker do with O'Brien and Silver right? He would win, and O'Brien has already gone to the Hollywood fans.

Johny Denison on the mound limited the Tigers to one run.

The Tigers took the lead in the fifth, but the Bees responded by scoring three runs.

However, the Bees got even with their big surprise in the ninth. Harry O'Neill, who hurled two more for the Bees after Singletary had retired to let Counts bat for him, received credit for the victory.

The series now stands all even with each side having two wins.

PICK LONG BEACH COACH

Russell Sprong, Former Athletic Director, to Coach Jackrabbit Gridders This Fall

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

LONG BEACH, Sept. 10.—Russell Sprong, for the last two years coach of athletics at Rubidoux Polytechnic High School, St. Joseph, Mo., was today elected head football coach and physical education instructor of the local high school. Coach Sprong will succeed Norman G. Wann, coach of Earlimar College, who was last week elected to fill the Long Beach vacancy. Coach Wann resigned his acceptance of the permanent mentorship yesterday, stating that the serious illness of his mother made it impossible.

Sprong is regarded by eastern critics as one of the strongest high school football coaches in the country, local investigation of the Missouri situation reveals. He is a graduate of Drake University and was awarded a master degree at the University of Kansas. Coach Sprong is a man of impressive physique, standing 6 feet 2 inches high at St. Joseph.

JANICKI NOW AT NOTRE DAME

THE PREMIER JOCKEY

BY FEG MURRAY

IT'S JUST A LITTLE OVER A YEAR NOW SINCE HIS CAREER WAS ENDED BY THAT TERRIBLE FALL AT SARATOGA.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer News Service

Although Earl Sande, America's premier jockey, is not competing as many mounts as he used to before he was injured, his percentage of winners is increasing amazingly, and many racetracks have evolved a new system to beat the races. This system is simple enough; it is to never play the mounts that Sande rides, no matter what their form says they should do.

This system works, too, and many happy men and women—more women than men—made much more than they lost in this season. Amongst Jockeys, Earl Sande is the King. It is giving the "Earl of Saratoga" an immensity following probably more than Tod Sloan or any other great jockey ever had.

One of the greatest thrills of 1925 was the brilliant come-back that Sande made on Saratoga in Maryland on April 21. Never was there such a mount as he had on that day. He won the race with a record performance.

Sande has ridden over 800 winners since he took his first mount on February 5, 1918. Imagine what your winnings would be now if you had played every horse that Earl has ridden in the last eight years!

RABBIT PUNCHES

by PAUL LOWRY

WE HAVE just heard the explanation of Dutch Meyers for the defeat of his Mexican batter, Bert Collima, at the hands of Leo Lomski in the Northwest recently. Offhand it sounds like rank plagiarism of Bro. Rudyard Kipling. "It Was the Best Thing to Do."

In all probability the Dutchman, who wields smelling salts bottles with more élan than the King of England, does not know the difference between Webster and Kipling, but for all of his story of why Collima was knocked out it is a story that should go down in history.

Incidentally, Senior Collima was right for the Lomski batter—as far as weight was concerned. He sunk the scales at 156 pounds, according to the Daily Mirror, thus holding up to over 170 pounds for the disastrous engagement with Hoffman, the ex-sailor soup chopper.

There were 5700 batters in the house—a big gate for that neck of the woods—but not sufficient to induce the management to bring in Collima to remain over for a return skirmish. He wants that fight down here, and probably will be accommodated when Lomski and his manager invade this part.

Word from the North says that Lomski and his manager, Eddie Eichlers, will leave for Los Angeles September 21. Eichlers, having heard stories about the difficulty eastern fighters have in acclimating themselves here, plans to give him a month in which to accustom himself to this peerless climate of ours.

After that the Aberdeen boy will read to ready on Senior Collima in a return match. Eichlers is being advised by Lonnie Austin, manager of Dodo Bericot.

Further, the Dutchman does assert that his sight, which seemed semidimmed, completely deserted him when he observed Senior Collima lying prone on the floor, and he nearly fainted from surprise.

However, he gives Bro. Lomski credit for having landed on Senior Collima's shoulder, the gray with the Russian sounding name fights down here there'll be nothing to it.

GOVERNOR PAID HONOR AT FAIR

Richardson and Aides Feted on Special Day

Executive Asserts Displays Best in History

Rotarians of State Gather on Grounds Also

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 10.—Gov. Richardson and his official family were the honor guests today at the California State Fair on Governor's Day. The day also was celebrated by members of Rotary Clubs who gathered from various parts of the State.

Gov. Richardson, accompanied by General State officers and his secretaries, Harry Lutgens and Fletcher Bowron, went to the fair grounds shortly after 10 o'clock and remained throughout the day.

STOCK PARADE

The feature of the program was the $1,000,000 stock parade that passed through the fair grounds and the city during the morning hours. All the cattle and horses showing at the fair, wearing the ribbons they have won, participated in the procession.

Stock experts of California and other States declared that the display of live stock and horses is by far the largest and best ever exhibited in the fair in the West.

Following the parade the Governor attended a banquet with State officials and members of the State Board of Agriculture.

The State Fair this year is the best I have ever attended," declared Gov. Richardson, "and the Board of Directors has constituted the best in the history of California. The county exhibits form the foundation for the annual exposition, and while I do not think the exhibits are as good as last year, we all should begin now to boost next year's Fair, with the object of bringing in all of the country."

On Sept. 20, 200 Rotarians and their families took part in the special program arranged by the exponents of service. After a day spent with the Rotarians, Mr. Mellon replied with the Rotarians met again at a banquet at a large tent on the grounds. A harness race in which Rotarians drove, was run in the afternoon program.

Contestants in the music today of the winners in the live-stock judging contest, participated in by students of the Agricultural College of the University, Faculty of Arts, Theano H. Hoge, William Herma, L. W. Tidmiller and H. V. Beckman; sheep, W. M. McPherson, E. C. Eames, H. V. Beckman; beef cattle, Blanche, Mrs. Charles E. H. Borchert, dairy cattle, W. E. Wood, William Herma, R. L. Shreve; horses, William Beard, William Herma, Blanche Johnson.

MELLON TAX PLAN OUTLINED

Maximum Surtax Reduction, Repeal of Estate Levies and Income Publicity Changes Advocated

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's plan for tax legislation was outlined at the Treasury today. The program contained no surprises, all of his proposals having been discussed by Treasury officials heretofore. The high points include the reduction in the maximum surtax from 40 per cent to 20 per cent or lower, the repeal or reduction of estate taxes and repeal of the publicity provision of the present law.

It was indicated that Secretary Mellon will be prepared to present the views of the Treasury to the House Ways and Means Committee, when hearings are commenced on October 19, next. Mr. Mellon, it is understood, will avoid as much as possible presenting a hard and fast program which would be attacked as a "Mellon plan," but none the less he will be ready to give his views in quite definite fashion when called upon by the House committee.

The exact maximum surtax to be advocated by Mr. Mellon remains somewhat indefinite. In 1924 he sought a reduction to a maximum of 20 per cent. This time he will insist that maximum ought properly to go at least as low as 20 per cent, which, with a proposed cut in the maximum surtax from 40 to 25 per cent, would give a combined maximum of 25 per cent. The present combined maximum is 46 per cent. Mr. Mellon believes that a reduction in the maximum below 20 per cent will tend to stimulate business, but he recognizes that Congress may not be willing to go any lower.

Mr. Mellon's proposal would repeal the estate taxes, the Treasury's prime purpose being to inform Congress of the injurious effect of the present high taxes on estates. Mr. Mellon hopes to convince Congress that the field of

The boy made his way to the publican's residence, times, protesting vigorously against its inclusion in the present law. Sentiment is rapidly advancing to the point, he believes, where it will be possible to effect its repeal.

SUIT AGAINST CANDLER DECLARED MISTRIAL

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
ATLANTA (Ga.), Sept. 10.—A mistrial today was declared in the case of Mrs. Clyda K. Byfield, who sued Walter T. Candler, Atlanta millionaire, for $100,000 damages. The jury, which received the case yesterday, reported this afternoon it could not agree. It is the trial of the Candler, the very first of the six other children of the couple, one was at work and the others in school. The Salmons had been separated since last June. The trial began yesterday when a final suit for divorce was filed by him. The revolver was disclosed by himself when the Coroner expressed surprise that it was not in the room with the bodies.

Fidac Delegates Greeted in Rome by Royal Envoy

(BY CARL AND ASSOCIATED PRESS)

ROME, Sept. 10.—The delegates to the sixth annual congress of the Fidac International World War Veterans organization were welcomed to Rome today by the Royal Commissioner, Signor Cremonesi, in the presence of Premier Mussolini and other Italian notables.

The Royal Commissioner declared renewal of the solidarity and comradeship attained on the field of battle must aid the veterans in their aims and inspire their government to strive for better international understanding.

Col. Thomas W. Miller, American president of the Fidac, in reply elicited enthusiastic applause when he said: "Premier Mussolini as a former soldier, and declared it fitting that the veterans' organization should, in his presence, begin another important step in its program seeking fulfillment of the war-time pledges to the soldiers."

Sea Gives Up Woman's Body; Crime Hinted

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

REDWOOD CITY, Sept. 10.—The nude body of a woman, apparently between 18 and 25 years of age, with the hands, feet and teeth of the upper jaw missing, was found on the ocean beach two miles south of Thornton today. Landini, chief of the San Mateo County coroner's office, said the woman's identity is not known.

Landini could not explain the absence of the hands, feet and jaw section, but suggested that the action of the water might have been responsible, as the body evidently had been submerged for several days.

If the Twentieth Century Limited published passenger lists, in the manner of the ocean liners, a file of these lists would be a veritable "who's who" of the men and women who are making America, as well as distinguished travelers from foreign countries.

Over this natural highway—on the comfortable water level route of the New York Central—the Century carries in the course of a year as many passengers as are booked in the first cabins of all the steamships crossing the Atlantic.

Business executives, leaders in the professions, men and women of affairs—for whom an overnight journey a third of the way across the Continent is only an incident in the day's work—make up the daily passenger list of this famous train between Chicago and New York and New England.

The inauguration of the Century service marked a distinct advance in railroad operation, and for nearly a quarter of a century the record of the Twentieth Century Limited has been one of increasing prestige and public usefulness.

Committee to Investigate
Industry Sought

[IT CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Sept. 10.—England's post laureate, Robert Bridges, is among many prominent men of the country who are greatly concerned over the decline of the British film industry. A circular letter explaining the present condition and hopeless outlook of the movies has been issued principally for the Members of Parliament, warning the nation that unless the government action is necessary if England is to make any pictures at all.

The letter bears the signatures of Mr. Bridges, Lords Carson, Reddell and Burnham, Gordon Self-

Ridge, J. R. Clynes and Thomas Hardy.

The authors of the letter believe that the government should institute a committee to inquire into the conditions of the industry and principally with the idea of keeping out foreign films until British films have a chance to develop.

The present position and future prospects of the film industry in this country have become matters of grave national concern.

The production of films occupies an important place in the industrial life of several other countries and gives employment to large numbers of people.

We have in Great Britain approximately over 4000 cinema theaters and halls where pictures are shown and it is estimated that 25,000,000 enter the picture houses each week, while the yearly receipts amount to about £10,000,000.

"Yet it is a humiliating fact that of the pictures exhibited not 5 per cent are produced here, while all others having their origin abroad, mainly in the United States, although quite recently Germany has come forward as a serious competitor with the Americans in the production of what are known as superfilms.

"What is the explanation of this state of things which we venture to describe? It is deplorable, and precisely because there is as yet no authoritative reply to this question that we are venturing to address our appeal to the Prime Minister to instruct him to inquire at an early date, and at the same time, permit a judgment to be formed as to the measures which should be taken to establish a film industry in this country on a sound foundation."

ALHAMBRA, Sept. 10.—An El Monte police officer, Elmer A. Redd, was blamed for the death of Anthony J. Heimes, killed Monday night when his car was struck by the machine driven by Redd, in the verdict of the Coroner's jury.

GLENDALE, Sept. 10.—Boy Scouts throughout Southern California, as well as the police of different cities, have been asked to aid in the search for Howard Chittenden, 18 years of age, who was last seen in Glendale, the first of the week. Both boys and members of the Boy Scouts and the membership of the entire organization has joined in the hunt to discover the missing lad.

For the past 15 days Chittenden boy may have met with foul play, his comrades declare because he was proud of his connection with the Scouts and of the many medals he had won and that he would not have run away from home willingly.

Special attention is being directed to the Los Angeles River by the searchers, as it is believed that he may have gone alone to the river and have perished in some of the deep holes along its course in spite of the fact that he was a good swimmer.

In the case of Harold Axup, it is believed he may have started for Texas, New Mexico or Arizona, where his father is employed, and an additional note of mystery has been injected into the search, for the boy by a mysterious letter received by the Scout office here, asking for Axup's home address. The search has already been extended throughout Los Angeles and other states over the State has been asked to aid in locating the missing boy.

The trial, which was suspended under a writ of habeas corpus issued by Justice W. H. Hager, was continued to the next day by the court.

The killing of the Hindu and his wife was attributed to two attorneys of the defense, who were arrested under a writ of habeas corpus issued by Justice W. H. Hager.

ONTARIO, Sept. 10.—Robert D. Emery, Ontario, car employee, who was recently acquitted of a liquor-slashing charge at his trial in the Superior Court in San Bernardino, was today freed by a jury in Justice Holloman's court here, which tried him on a charge of possessing liquor illegally.

Chief of Police W. O. Hardy and Deputy Sheriff J. H. Brown, both of whom sat as judges, found nothing to indicate that the man had been guilty of the offense charged.

The novel features of this banquet are expected to bring out the largest assemblage in the history of the local organization. Every member of the church will be present.

The discharge is expected to decrease from that date on, as the church station reported the discharge of the river water on the upper watershed as 14,000 cfs.

LONG BEACH, Sept. 10.—The second attempt of Mrs. W. T. Farrell, 53 years of age, to end her life, proved successful at an early hour this morning when she died at the Community Hospital from loss of blood, suffered from a deep wound in her right arm. Physicians amputated her arm in an effort to save her life after she had endeavored to save it from her body with a razor at her home, 616 Orange avenue, yesterday. Police assigned to investigate ascribed her suicide to melancholia and ill health.

Police today were endeavoring to locate the dead woman's husband, Frank Sterling, who was driving a Southern Paper Company truck.

Yesterday's attempt to end her life was thwarted in two months, police reports show.

Those Floors of Yours!

RUBBER CEMENT FLOOR PAINT

EVERY home-keeping, home-loving woman has, sometime, wondered: "How can I have soft-wood floors that are as inviting as hardwood—clean and bright—and easy to keep that way? I mean bed room floors, halls, closets, bath rooms, in fact, all the busy up-stairs places."

A properly painted surface is the answer. Such a surface must be as indifferent to soap suds and water, and as willing to part with soil and stains, as a dinner plate—with almost cement-like resistance to scuffing shoes, pounding heels and sliding, scraping furniture.

Rubber Cement Floor Paint provides soft-wood interior floors with the surface that satisfies your most exacting ideas of good home-keeping. Easy to apply, it dries over night, forming a bright, porcelain-like surface in any one of several attractive colors. Made by FULLER—the result of 76 years' experience.

Ask your Dealer. And don't forget to write for our free book, "Color Harmony in the Home." It is your guide when painting floors, walls and woodwork. Illustrated in color and suggests color schemes.

Banks Now Hold Late Money King's Wealth

Dying Lips Mocked by Family Discord

BY CARL AND ASSOCIATED PRESS!
BERLIN, Sept. 10.—Recently there has been world-wide curiosity as to whether the son and daughters of the late Hugo Stinnes would succeed in emulating the example of the five Rothschilds of Frankfurt in conserving the family's unity and fortune. This curiositv now is rewarded by a spectacle which reveals the truth about the son and daughters of Stinnes, Germany's great industrialist, in forced liquidation, and

LONG-LOST DOG RETURNS HOME

Buddy Tralls Master to Old Residence After Tour of State

"Home, sweet home!" It was found yesterday by Buddy, a shaggy, bedraggled Airedale, who became lost on the Herminghouse ranch more than three months ago, only to prove his canine intelligence by returning to his master's old home at Montrose yesterday morning after roaming over a large part of California during his extended absence.

The dog strayed from his master, Irving Cockcroft, an engineer employed by the Southern California Edison Company, while the latter was engaged in work for the company on the ranch. The dog sought his master at Fresno, fifteen miles from the ranch, where Mr. Cockcroft had made his home temporarily. Unable to find them, the dog set out for Montrose, and finally arrived at his old home yesterday.

His family tightly in the clutches of an banking syndicate to which it has been loaned for many loans, originally for six months, to save Stinnes' "industrial empire."

Already Stinnes' banks, iron works, hotel estate, steamship, electrical plants, coke and iron and steel concerns, and the apple of the dead man's eye, the Deutsche Alpenwerke, have been sold and the family still has the Muelheim coal mines in which Stinnes started on the way to wealth.

PLEADED FOR UNITY
"Put together and stand by mother."

This was the admonition of Hugo Stinnes as he lay dying in April of last year, addressed to his sons and daughters. He had in mind a family union for the protection of his vast and varied industries, which ended in the present liquidation.

Intimate friends of Stinnes say he foresaw disagreement among his sons. They point out that Stinnes will provide for conflicting opinions by designating the second son, Hugo, Jr., as executive director of the estate, in case Dr. Edmund Stinnes, the eldest son, who was the original director, and the third son, Otto, could not agree.

UNION DISRUPTED

Hugo, Jr., was the father's favorite during the years in which the magnate was conducting his commercial empire. Edmund, who is characterized by acquaintances as of a mercurial temperament, after he assumed the post of executive director of the estate, is by no means popular and has had brought sharp criticism from his brother, Hugo, the family's legal adviser and a banker. Otto also had been given a vote in the family councils. Edmund soon found his mother and two younger brothers pitted against him and in less than a month the family and their father died.

Edmund withdrew to devote himself to the automobile and insurance interests. His action was followed by the other two in taking charge of the Stinnes property which they held as collateral. Then came the forced liquidation. There is no question but that the bankers will save to the family the Stinnes coal mine at Muelheim or whether these also will be put up at auction block.

"Stinnes, such a Nietzschean, would have been required to administer the industrial and commercial realms acquired by the late Hugo Stinnes," is the comment of one of the British newspapers.

Many Canadians Emigrating to United States

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Sept. 10.—Nearly 4000 Canadians left this country for the United States in the period from June 20, 1924 to August 31, 1925, according to statistics prepared by the United States Consulate here. Of this number, 3000 were Canadian born or naturalized citizens and another 272 were British born.

There are thirty-two other American consular offices in Canada to be heard from, as these are only the figures of this port alone. Canadians do not come under the quota, but those go to the countries of origin. British born quotas are filled for the next two years, and Englishmen who apply now are given a wise entitling them to consideration two years hence.

'Water Catch' Aids Women of Indian Village

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

HOLBROOK (Ariz.) Sept. 10.—Through the good offices of Congressman Carl Hayden, the women of Shimapavi have been saved the half-mile of hill climbing for water that for hundreds of years has been the life and main task. The only water for the village has been found in springs at the foot of the second Hopi mesa, thence brought in jars, after the manner of ancient Jades, up the side of a 400-foot cliff on a rough trail.

Following Mr. Hayden's suggestion, one based upon a custom of the Hopi Indians, a "water catch" or great cistern was built on the mesa top by H. E. Robinson, supervising engineer of the Indian Service. Much of the work was done by Indian Indians, who are credited by Mr. Robinson with labor valued at $256. The late storms have turned into the cistern about 30,000 gallons of pure water.

NOEL ACCOMPLICE FEARED

Banker Asks Guard as Threats Received in Girl Kidnapping and Murder Case

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—James A. Bower, vice-president of the New York Trust Company, from whose front lawn little Mary Daly was kidnapped by Harrison Noel, and whose chauffeur was shot in an attempt to rescue the child, asked the Montclair police today to protect his home. He has received two letters threatening his safety and the welfare of his family, he said.

Chief of Police Reilly of Montclair, whom he later killed, was made this afternoon by Prosecutor D'Alota of Essex county to David Daly, 22, son of the slain child.

An attorney by the defense to save Noel from the electric chair by having a commission of alienists appointed to pass on his sanity and send him to an insane asylum will be blacked, D'Alota declared.

"Under the laws of this state there is no possibility of any one man having the power to set one person free from the electric chair or the insane asylum in a murder case," the prosecutor said. "In the Leob-Leopold case in Chicago they got around trial by jury cleverly, but nothing like that happened here."

D'Alota went on to say that he had not been established to his satisfaction that Noel was insane when he was kidnapped.

"I did it all myself," was his defense statement.

Montclair Essex County Board of Education started its hearings to fix responsibility for Harrison's freedom from the county hospital for the inmate of Oberbrook.

Dr. George Reilly, the superintendent, gave young Noel's history under the care of the county before and during the time he was an inmate there. His testimony showed the numerous disorders he had suffered on both sides of Harrison's family tree.

MIND AGAIN CLEAR

Harrison Noel received his first visitor today since he was arrested Sunday.

The visitor was H. C. Barber, a New York attorney and a friend of his family.

In soiled clothing and unshaven, Noel greeted the visitor with perfect composure.

His mind was much different from the cataleptic torpor he has exhibited since his arrest and his mind seemed clear, his perception active.

"You know me, Harrison," Mr. Barber asked.

"Why, of course, I know you, Mr. Barber," the youth replied with evident surprise.

Noel failed to comprehend perfectly the friend's effort to bring up the subject of his imprisonment.

Conferences Held
Favorable to Plan

Urged by Northern Votes

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) Sept. 10.—The annual conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, which the vote on unification was deferred until next year, were expressing some doubt that the plan of unification will be given the constitutional majority of three-fourths of the aggregate vote of the present associations, though they look for a large unification following.

ENDORSES PLAN

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) Sept. 10.—Unification of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, one of the important questions to be voted on during the closing days of the conference, was accepted by a sufficient majority in both the South, and North,

Virginia, 66 for and 57 against; Kentucky, 87 for and 88 against; and Central Brazil unanimous for.

All of the foreign conferences are believed to be in favor of the plan of union, while the New South conference, which has been opposing unification with their combined Episcopal area three-fourths of the approximately 10,000 votes to 1,000, is against it.

The Missouri conference, the fourth to meet, including the missions, which have no choice in the movement.

ESTATE TAX FIGHT LOOMING

Proposal For Repeal of Federal Law Expected to Come Up at National Exchange Club Convention

BY CARL P. MILLER

Thinking men of the business and professional world appear disposed to support the government's policy in respect to taxation. Whenever the inheritance tax and the so-called "gift tax" enacted in 1924 are mentioned, the general consensus of opinion is that when the taxpayer has been subjected to the payment of an income tax he has about done his share. Few feel that taxes should be levied as a means of preventing the amassing of large estates or the upbuilding of large industrial concerns, which in the final analysis are the backbone of our state.

America has always offered a welcome hand to the down-trodden and to every citizen and industry that attempts to amass a fortune without the privilege of our economic structure. It is believed that every man should be made to feel that his energy and initiative will be rewarded.

In order to enable the board of directors of the General Petroleum Corporation to free a large part of the earnings from the necessities of reinvestment for capital purposes and make the dividends bear a just relation to the earnings, the earnings authority is asked of the stockholders to create $35,000,000 in fifteen-year 5 per cent first mortgage bonds, according to Capt. John Barson, vice-president of the corporation, at the annual meeting in San Francisco.

As soon as the stockholders approve the plan, it will be submitted to be voted for this purpose, the board of directors contemplates an increase in the dividend from $2 to $3 per share, Capt. Barson said.

At the meeting of the board of directors immediately following the annual stockholders' meeting, the following changes were made in the organization of the National Exchange Club, a service organization of national scope.

Capt. John Barson, retired as president to become chairman of the board of directors, T. T. Barnes, formerly vice-president and general manager, was elected president; R. A. Sperry, formerly assistant general manager, was appointed general manager; Mr. C. A. Johnson, was appointed assistant general manager. Other officers and directors remain the same.

Capt. Barson's statement to the stockholders, he said:

"For several years your company has been earning from 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 times the amount paid in dividends to the stockholders in the undistributed earnings being invested in oil lands, storage and equipment. Thus in the fiscal years of 1923, 1924 and 1925, the earnings available for common stock dividends were $19,982,861.49, while only $6,264,912.12 was distributed during the three fiscal years."

It is felt that this was not altogether fair to the stockholders and could only be justified by our belief that it was a temporary situation to be terminated at the earliest possible moment.

The stockholders in the undistributed earnings being invested in oil lands, storage and equipment. Thus in the fiscal years of 1923, 1924 and 1925, the earnings available for common stock dividends were $19,982,861.49, while only $6,264,912.12 was distributed during the three fiscal years."

"We find ourselves in the position of having our property confiscated by the government estate and gift tax, the effect of which is depriving the citizen in his life-time of the incentive to work and accumulate. The citizens engaged in the building of our economic fabric realize that upon his death the larger portion of his earnings will be dissipated in Federal estate and State inheritance taxes, which front the capital gains, for further constructive efforts."

General Advance on Heavy Sales

Iron Lead Industry Group to Record Level

Gold in Call Money Rates is Factor

NEW YORK Sept. 10.—Stock market another impressive accumulation of strength today. Heavy sales for the industrial group, particularly in the motor, machine and chemical groups, were observed as the average price of heavy industries was up 104.4% and then rallied to 104.4%. The market for the railroads found some support on record sales, but fell back later in the afternoon. The fall of the futures of the Southern Railroads increased the record directions on the common stock market. The market for steel stocks, which had been up 104.4% and then rallied to 104.4%, was found to be strong. A further accumulation of strength came from the apparent picture of stocks available for stock market purposes, which was widely recognized as an important influence on the market.

Market Renews Advance as Heat Wave Continues Over Wide Belt

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Maximum temperatures of 100 to 105 and as high as 109 degrees at many places daily this week in the Carolinas through the western part of the belt to Central Texas and Oklahoma have been the chief factor in advancing the market since the government's crop report of Tuesday.

These conditions, which tend to insure heavy cotton damage, has led to deterioration and opening of the partly matured bolls. It is feared that the new government crop report will show a quite different picture, probably of 13,746,000 bales for the September, condition.

There is, however, no prospect of this showing, not only because the dry spell and extreme heat wave, but to cause cooler temperatures, from a storm heading into the Atlantic Coast through Georgia.

There is a forecast for a fall hurricane of 13,746,000 bales for the September, condition.

If such weather conditions should prevail for a few days over the belt, it would considerably lessen the trade's present apprehension of further crop damage.

The crop is at 13,746,000 bales.

It has become more of a weather market than anything else.

Continuation of the recent covering movement and speculative buying, causes another sharp upturn.

It extended to 95 to 40 points more from yesterday's closing bringing October contracts up to 22.70; November, 22.80; January, 22.50; March, 22.75, and May, 24.00. As this is a maximum rise of 170 to 200 points under the lead of the near months from the last level of 100 to 105, it has discouraged a good deal of the present crop situation.

There was considerable profit-taking in the southern sailing in the late afternoon, which sent prices off about 20 points from the early high levels, with the forecast for showers the most influential factor.

It will be partly cloudy all over the cotton belt tonight and tomorrow.

The tower studio has been a hive of activity all week with the multitude of arrangements made for the big radio show in the Ambassador Auditorium and with details for the broadcasting at 8 o'clock tonight. KJH, the station which is to appear at the Olympic Auditorium under the joint auspices of the American Legion and the American Legion of Ex-Service Men.

Work today will complete the installation of the special line telephony system and input panel for tonight's address. Gen. Dawes is scheduled to speak at 8 o'clock promptly at 8 o'clock beginning immediately his speech on revision of the rules of the United States Senate.

The heavy expense incident to this broadcast is being borne by the Walter Chrysler Company and its distributors of Hudson and Essex automobiles, as a courtesy to the vast number of radio set owners who will desire to hear the government official, but who will be unable to get tickets to the auditorium. Seats in the huge hall will be free, and a public address system will be placed in Prager Park for the crowds unable to enter.

The Western Auto Supply Company is to come on the air from the tower studio with another of their fine concert programs at the close of the show. Dawes' address will continue to give selections until about 10 o'clock.

The great throng gathered in the Ambassador Auditorium gave further evidence of the popularity of the talented artists of the tower studio. Thousands were unable to gain admission to the hotel when the children of popular 1 o'clock and the entire crowd surged into the show proper at 8:30 to inspect the elaborate tuning and hear The Times artists entertain from the three stages.

KJH'S DAY AT SHOW

Yesterday was devoted entirely to KJH at the show, the station giving the simulcasts our broadcasts from 10 until 11 o'clock last night. The radio department of the Western Auto Supply Company, "International," that is, not air service receiver, sponsored this program, and will continue to give selections at the close of the show proper at 8:30 to inspect the elaborate tuning and hear The Times artists entertain from the three stages.

THE COLUMBIA TRIO

The Columbia Trio, composed of the Herscovitch brothers and the Orpheus Four male quartet, were big hits of the evening. All of their numbers were greeted by waves of applause from the packed audience.

"Cousin Jim" Beardseye presented at the microphone in the studio for the children's hour and was a decided hit. He was forced to remain all day at the radio show. After the talk on history by Prof. Walter Sylvester Herscovitch, the screen juvenile, Dickie Brandon, the screen juvenile, and the Columbia Trio, Dore Bissell, 14-year-old pianist, pupil of Lee Sachs; "Sunny Jane" Hughes, Joyo Coal, who is known as "Little Red Riding Hood" and Blanche Hines, 4-year-old radio star-pupil of Winifred Pollard, gave this feature program. Ruth Frances Allen, pianist from Seattle, visited the studio at this time and was a group of brilliant selections.

Dr. Philip M. Lovell, known throughout Radioland for his helpful talks over KJH, can be seen in the booth, his weekly appearance in the studio, broadcasting a talk on "The Nervous Child."

EVERYTHING

The studio program last evening from 8 until 10 o'clock was another beautiful arrangement made possible through the efforts of the Pacific Electric Railway Company, being another program on their series of "A Night at Mt. Lowe."

The two hours were filled with fine renditions by acknowledged leaders in the city's musical colony, including Henry Van Prag's Concert Orchestra, Carl Buratti, premier cornet soloist, and was accompanied on the piano by his daughter, Audrey Buratti; the Alpine Male Quartet, Uncle Remus and his laugh-provoking monologues, and Mary Newkirk Bower, brilliant soprano soloist.

One of the big features of the evening was the musical numbers given as a farewell to Beatrice Fenner, remarkable blind pianist, who accompanied Mary Newkirk Bower. This soloist has written many compositions by this excellent artist, who is leaving Los Angeles to join Galli Curci in New York. This noted prima donna has honored the tower studio with a number of her compositions for exclusive rendition on the concert stage.

Music Master radio exhibits a new model at the radio show with several startling innovations.

The set consists technically of four stages, each frequency selector and two sets of audio frequency. Each separate unit is entirely shielded in a metal container. This set also serves as a very small miniature loop antenna. The loop is adjustable through the usual control panel. The antenna is to be made of a tetrode, through the substitution of alternating current tubes invented by the Music Master Company. The set will then be operated from the electric light current.

One of the most radically different sets exhibited is the David Fitcher radio, distributed through the Fitcher Radio Music Company. It is a three and four-tube set known as the Inverse Duplex. The set is reflexed in such a way that it is equal in results to average five and six-tube sets. Fieldless coils are employed and an individual current supply is used on the detector tube.

This set is manufactured in hundreds of several hundred sets for several months and it is said that very remarkable results have been obtained.

The set is said to be a record-breaking, and is particularly noticeable for its tonal qualities.

ONE CONTROL

Colin B. Kennedy is exhibiting a set through Kierulff & Ravenscroft that is attracting a good deal of attention. The Kennedy line is a well-known make, one of the pioneers of modern radio construction; their latest model combines all the Kennedy qualities in a beautiful model with but one tuning control. Even better tone than characteristic of previous Kennedy sets is claimed for this set, in spite of the simplicity of its control. The tuning arrangement used is of Kennedy's own manufacture and is particularly designed to receive wave-length stations as well as the long wave-length stations. Every station is sufficiently separated on the tuning dial to make tuning especially easy. This set also comes in a variety of cabinet styles.

Kierulff & Ravenscroft are exhibiting a new model of the ever-popular Croxley, known as the "Pup." The Pup is a two-tube set using an improved regenerative principle. Great distance-giving qualities are claimed for it. It is boxed, all but the tubes in a single case, and is manufactured in hundreds of several hundred sets for several months and it is said that very remarkable results have been obtained.

The set is said to be a record-breaking, and is particularly noticeable for its tonal qualities.

The Blair Receiver, distributed by the Union Hardware Company, is one of the few radios on the market that are price competitive. Resistance amplification is practically absolutely distortionless. Tones are received by resonance, rather than by the action of a rectifier. The set is marketed in a variety of attractive cabinets.

The Rotorof, exhibited by the International Radio Company, is a "make-do" type of radio, and is a distinct innovation both in its engineering principles and in the types and variety of its cabinets.

The Rotorof is a single control device, with a system of tuning the inductance unlike that of any other set. Very excellent results are obtained. The control dial, rather than the ordinary dial and combination switch, is a rheostat, and is arranged in several of the models as to appear as a part of the furniture. The set is made in the four most striking girls were invited to charge to visitors the newest Atwater Kent radio sets.

With the idea of carrying out the distinctive features incorporated in Atwater Kent receiving sets, the four most striking girls were invited to charge to visitors the newest Atwater Kent radio sets.

Eclipsing by far the demonstration given KJH when it appeared last Monday spectators yesterday began to assemble as early as 10 a.m. to assure themselves of seats at the Ambassador Auditorium where the first KJH program was to be held.

The exhibitors assembled in the theater room of the Ambassador Auditorium, where the doors of the little theater were thrown open at 12:30, a great number of them having attempted to force their way into the 400-seat theater. Many of them had brought boxes luncheons and camp stools to while away the long wait.

The management provided space for approximately 1,000 spectators, but was forced to deny at least $600 admission to the theater and to accommodate this over-flow, the management opened the exposition doors two hours earlier.

The show will continue today and tomorrow, closing Saturday midnight, and the exhibitors last night promised to introduce several surprises for the last two days.

Asked how much tobacco he consumed in a day, Dawes added he never has a cigarette but with a twinkle in his eye. "One reason I want to rest today and cut out all the invitations, is that I am behind in my smoking."

The 62-year-old president of the general and Mrs. Dawes, their daughter, Mrs. M. B. Erickson, W. G. Sibley, associate editor of the Chicago Journal of Commerce, E. H. Buckley, manager of the Hotel Vogel, newspaperman, left on the Padre tonight for Los Angeles, where Gen. Dawes is to speak tomorrow night. His speech in the house will be a resounding campaign against the Senate rules on which he declared a truce while attending California's Diamond Jubilee. The party leaves Los Angeles Saturday, going east to Chicago via the Grand Canyon.

NEILAN ROBBED BY GEM THIEF
Director Loses $4600 Jewels from Hotel Suite

Police Launch Search for Clev in Burglary

Detectives Declare Signs of "Inside Job" Seen

Detectives last night were trailing the hotel thief who forced his way into the luxurious suite of rooms occupied by Marshall Neilan at the Ambassador and departed with $4600 worth of the film director's jewelry.

The thief of the jewelry was reported to Chief of Police Heath yesterday by Col. Carl Denham, house detective at the Ambassador, though the jewelry was stolen but Saturday.

LAVISH ENTERTAINER

Detectives working on the case believe that the thief may have been an inside job, since Neilan is a lavish entertainer. A second theory is that the jewelry may have been taken by an expert climb ladder, who made his way into the room occupied by the film director.

One of the windows of Neilan's room leads out to this fire escape, it was pointed out.

The articles stolen include three diamond stud centers valued at $1000, one of platinum with diamond centers, valued at $800, and a third of moonstones with diamond centers.

Col. Denham stated that a large amount of other jewelry kept by Neilan in a locked bureau drawer in his room was not touched by the thief. The value of the remaining jewelry, he stated, is perhaps ten times that of the jewelry taken.

RWARD OFFERED

The fact that nothing but the diamonds were lifted by the thief, Col. Denham declared, partly confirms the theory that the job may have been an inside one.

A reward of $500, "with no question asked," has been offered by the director for the return of the jewels.

FIRE BOAT IN SERVICE OCTOBER 15

Chief Scott Asks Crew of Twenty-six to Man Craft Day and Night

The new $214,000 fire boat now built at the yards of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company will be completed and put into service about October 15. Chief Scott announced yesterday to the Board of Fire Commissioners. The fire boat will be of the latest type of construction, and with its powerful engines will be able to reach speedily all parts of the water front.

Fire Chief Scott yesterday secured the approval of the board to name the boat after the City Council authorized the appointment of a crew of twenty-six men, on the basis of twenty-six twelve-hour duty periods.

The new boat will include two firemen, two mates, two engineers and two officers. The chief requested authority to employ the additional crew of twelve men.

The department plans on the completion of the new boat to be built.

The boat will be financed from this purpose two years ago to give needed protection to wharves, docks, terminals and piers.

Three Caught in Rum Raids at Beach City

Three men arrested in three liquor raids last night. They were taken to County Jail in Los Angeles charged with Wright Act violations. Those arrested were J. V. Boyd, assistant manager of the Bond Drug Co., which operates several drug stores in the Bay area. The raid being made on Boyd's store was at Avenue 15 and Torrance. Recarbari, tailor, and Milo 1710 Speedwell, were led by Deputy Police and Deaseke. They were in two squads in an endeavor to prevent their presence could be known.

A SHELL GAME

THE ONLY ONE
Calvin Coolidge and Gov. Richardson seem to be about the only public officials in America really doing anything in the line of shortening the tax bill. In most States and communities protestations of salvage have been made, but in the finalities the demands of the tax-payers are not to be appeased, and the burden is boosted rather than lightened.

ONE WAY OUT
A Coroner's jury revoked the license of a motorist who killed another in the course of a collision between cars. It is not likely that such a body would have authority to cancel a license, but it can probably be made to stick. It might be so fixed that a notice from any county jury should revoke or withhold a driver's license. Grand juries could then check up on their careless drivers and stay their hands.

THE SHORT HAUD
An investigation shows that in quite a number of large cities nearly 90 per cent of the people are still regular patrons of the street cars. Men may have their motoring in daily use and still resort to the street cars for short hauls or direct action. In one of the big cities it was noted that 75 per cent of the owners of high-priced automobiles were using the street cars an average of twenty-eight times a month. As a medium of city traffic nothing completely displaces the trolley.

THE SEEDY LIFE
Now a scientist asserts that the perfect life can only be attained when humans live upon seeds. That is the diet. Meat is a crime and milk a flood, but the seed of almost any tree or plant is the perfect food for man's interior. Some of our ancestors lived happily in the jungle on the seeds of coconuts and we should get back to nature. It is feared, however, that a man who refreshed himself exclusively on the pods from his garden would look rather seedy in time.

HEALTH AND FLESH
The State Health Commissioner in Iowa is able to prove to his own satisfaction that persons who are underweight until they are 30 years of age and then become overweight are the best risks for the life-insurance companies. Fat is healthy if it is taken on naturally and as a gradual acquirement of years. He says that the slender type of woman may be considered more attractive just now, but the sister who gathers plumpness as she passes life's milestones will outlast her.

I'N WILDEST LONDON
According to the printed confessions of correspondents, the London social season which just closed has been the most lurid and extravagant known for a generation. Is it possible that this is another excess which can be blamed upon the jazz? It is admitted that women have been displaying their limbs and their jewelry with equal abandon. England is not exactly used to this social feverishness and it is quite possible that American music and American influence have had something to do with it.

A KISS IN THE DARK
In Hungarian cities ordinances have been passed which call for the sudden turning on of all lights at stated intervals in the movie theaters. When the lights go up petting parties and love tanglements are spied upon and the offenders are often arrested and heavily fined. It seems that there is more clinching in the picture houses abroad than in this country. There lots of lovers frequent the cinema merely for the opportunity it offers for caressing. Here this is but an occasional incident. There is enough clinching on the screen to satisfy the most exacting appetite. Nobody would think of calling in the police to keep a break.

FOOLS AND THEIR FOLLY
As the hard-coal strike progresses one begins to sense the ulterior purpose of the labor-union heads, who have caused the temporary closing down of an industry which produces a public necessity at the time when the eastern public must have the product or freeze. From labor-union sources comes the suggestion that the Federal government should reimburse the striking miners for the monetary loss due to their voluntary idleness.

This is merely an attempt to bind our Federal government with shackles like those the British labor unions have thrown about the government of Great Britain. It must be recalled that the British government now pays a subsidy to the mine owners to enable them to pay wages which are higher than the selling price of coal will justify.

Doles and subsidies are the order of the day in England, and English industry is suffering to an extent that begins to affect the economic security of the British Isles. These doles and subsidies must be paid from tax money; and, added to the present high taxes, necessitated by the debts contracted during the World War, they are driving millions of capital out of British industry. They defeat in the end the very purpose for which they were adopted.

Why should the rest of the country chip in to pay those striking miners, to support them in idleness? They declined arbitration of their dispute with the mine operators; they elected to strike; and now ask that the public to pay them for striking.

Of course, the rank and file of the miners have been fooled by crafty walking delegates. They have been led to fix their hopes on a delusion; for no one conversant with public opinion suspects for a moment that Congress would pass and the President approve an appropriation of tax money to pay union miners for going on strike. If such a policy were adopted, how many would remain at work? What will be the incentive to labor when the government subsidizes idleness? Why should we of California, who are not hard-coal users, pay excessive taxes because the union miners ask more pay than the selling price of coal will justify?

Foolish to be sure; but there are thousands of ignorant foreigners among the miners who have been led to expect that the government will come through. Their folly is only a reflection of the grosser folly of the misleaders of the labor unions.

MUSSOLINI AND CAESAR
Benito Mussolini, Premier and dictator of Italy, in an interview at Rome with Lady Drummond Hay, correspondent of the London Daily Express, said very frankly that Julius Caesar was his ideal. His master, "the greatest man that ever was." In nearly all that he said during his talk with Lady Drummond the chief of the all-powerful Fascisti gave utterance to sentiments that might have been inspired by Caesar, with whose philosophy of life he seemed in full accord. He works with a bust of the great Roman general, statesman and historian peering over his shoulder from a near-by niche and is said to be fond of his master's ideal.

To a certain extent this explains the character of Mussolini—his dominating personality, his peculiar aptitude for taking advantage of an existing situation in whatever form it presents itself, his many noble impulses and his ignoble theory, so often applied, that the end justifies the means. It explains his political cunning, his ordinary good sense and his occasional lapses into moods of violence that are the terror of his enemies and sometimes give rise to apprehension among his friends.

Just as Caesar came into power because Rome needed a man of great force to save her from internal dissension, which he did for a time, so Mussolini became master of Italy because a strong man was required to confront the Communistic element, to form an invincible coalition of all the non-Socialistic organizations and to suppress all the non-Fascisti, which he has done largely by the sheer force of his dynamic personality, his skillful grasp of affairs and his undoubted popularity.

These things, of course, Caesar had in a greater degree than Mussolini, but the dictator of modern Italy has given one of the best imitations of the dictator of ancient Rome to be found in the history of the past century.

Doubtless there are those who decry Mussolini's frank avowal that Caesar is his ideal and who will be ready to point out that Caesar was a tyrant, a man whose vaunting ambition overleaped and whose removal by the conspirators was an act of poetic justice. But he staved off the impending fall of Rome for years, and he lived well with a mission, and least of all as a temperamental artist a whole universe distant from his followers spiritually, but as a great, healthy-minded, sound-spirited, common-sense disciple of music, a true musician because he is familiar not only with its art, but with its objects—ourselves.

Against

Mussolini as against Gibraltar, the waves of jazz on one side and at the other opposite end of the scale, the ultra and unevenly appreciated hyper-artistic, have alike broken for many, many years. Sousa has been a citadel wherein music abided here.

We take Sousa in this country for granted, as we take the oxygen we breathe. And he is almost as beneficial to us. Not because he is an American artist, but because he is all-artist, we admire him and love him.

THE DANCE OF HEALTH

"Dancing, if begun early in life, will free a person from any danger of developing cancer," says Dr. Robert D. Emery, for a student of the dread disease.

"Cancer can be prevented by adoption of methods similar to those practiced by peoples of the Arctic regions, of the Far East, of Egypt and the Orient. In the time of Pericles dancing was the national custom and cancer was unknown," continues the doctor.

This will be good news to vast numbers of people. Nor will it be a medicine that is hard to take. And the prescription can be filled quite readily wherever there happens to be a radio or phonograph.

Now if the doctor will substitute the circus for castor oil as a remedy and a picture show for quinine quite a number of boys will give a yell for the good doctor.

Then a doctor might prescribe golf in much larger doses for the business men. It would help to quiet other members of the firm as well as of the family. More men also could get out of the bootleg golf class.

Attendance upon the baseball games should be administered in allopathic quantities. This will not only make disease more popular, but the doctors will not lose any friends by it.

Materia medica will no longer need to write its prescriptions in Latin so the world will be in the dark. Physicians will no longer be ashamed of their antitoxins. Large, bold English will be a credit to the profession.

Possibly this is the reason why Henry Ford has taken up the terpsichorean art recently. Could it account for any of the

LETTERS TO The Times

The Dissenter

OCEAN PARK, Sept. 8.—[To the Editor of The Times:] As a Times reader for the past thirty years I notice in your issue of Sunday, September 6, where our old-time writer, Thomas F. Ford, makes a historical error in reviewing the pro-British history, "England and the Civil War," by Prof. Adams of Stanford University.

The reviewer says:

"That Britain was guilty of both sins of omission and commission during that trying period no careful student of the history of our first nation can doubt, but the conflict will have the hardihood to deny. But that Britain deliberately and with malice aforethought sought to aid in bringing about the dissolution of the American Union is a notion without foundation."

If it "is a notion without foundation" how can the award of arbitration be accounted for whereby England paid the United States $15,500,000?

The board of arbitrators was appointed by friendly nations. The evidence of both was impartially heard with the verdict as above.

It has become the fashion with these pro-British historians to charge any American who stands up for historical facts with "twisting the lion's tail."

A right let's twist it a little.

During the American Civil War all the nations in Europe, except Russia, organized what they termed the Holy Alliance, the object being to divide the Americas among themselves.

The result of the war defeated their plans and the United States has become what it is today, the greatest and richest nation on earth.

The reviewer says: "Dr. Adams shows that the British government and people feared chiefly the war's effects."

That is true. They feared the North would win and the effects would be what they are.

C. C. DORAN.

Inconsistent

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I read with amusement the defense of William Randolph Hearst in today's Times by Mrs. Barker's little boy. What an inconsistent little boy! He admits in one breath the foul plots on the part of the foul ones of whom he is in the next accusing them of mankind. He says the foul plots are nobody's business! They are everybody's business! And especially those who have children growing up to see a man of Hearst's character eulogized.

A man is no better than his private life shows him to be, for this is the real man, and as to his public life, Mrs. Barker's little boy's attitude during the war stamped him a traitor to his country and he should have been tried for treason.

Therefore, knowing all about his private and public life, as so many of us do, one is moved to ask, "What price, little Barker boy, for your valiant bark in defense of something wholly indefensible?" CALLA G. GREGG.

The Pony Express

LOS ANGELES, July 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Your article in regard to that messenger who was killed on the train coming from the south by those two bandits—the one made the pony only 62 years of age and the pony express went out of business in '61 (as I remember it) started in '60. And those stamps that were shown in your paper being carried by the pony express from Denver: I beg to say the pony express was no nearer than Julesburg, as Denver and Rocky Ford are hundreds of miles away. But the old stamp started in to ride at Julesburg under Jack Slade when only 16 years of age.

If you will send a reporter here to me I will give you the whole thing from the Black Hawk War Illinois up until now, I am an old-timer and have it all.

PATRICK HENRY.

Unappreciative

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Harry Barker's letter re Mr. Hearst will meet with the cordial disapproval of many persons living in this section of the Golden West who have followed, with a feeling of keen disappointment, the public career of Hearst.

Unlimited wealth, splendid partage, the good will of a vast multitude of friends, many other favorable circumstances all conspired to give Hearst a magnificent opportunity of service.

The fact is a subtle inherent weakness in his character coupled with a plastic mentality have marred what might have been a brilliant personality.

Violent antipathy toward all men more successful than himself indicates mental apathy of a most distressing kind.

Hearst's faults and frailties are only too well known.

The memory of his shameful conduct (journalistic) during the World War.

Prone to flattery and the likes that Hearst is now earnestly seeking the welfare of his fellow-man cannot obliterate a disgraceful past.

Bitter opposition to the League of Nations and the World Court cannot find a place in the heart of any man who is sincerely seeking the welfare of his fellow-man.

Autumn Millinery Has a Parisian Accent

The chic that is Paris, that elusive perfection of line and color for which Paris is renowned, has been successfully captured in these new Hats for autumn. Truly Parisian in the smartness of a down-turned brim, the nonchalant placing of a pert feather garniture, the artful creasing of a debonair crown. Included are adorable Hats of velvet so soft and pliable as to seem like satin. Hats of velour in warm autumn shades, and of felt sometimes combined with velvet.

Fashions for Youth

Nor is the younger generation forgotten in our Autumn Exposition. Our Junior Section prides itself upon its comprehensive assortment of new fall modes for school and party wear. Jaunty little frocks and gallant coats for little girls, sturdy suits and staunch reefer for the very young man are here in abundance. And what delightful styles in gay party frocks are awaiting the youthful Miss.

Fascinating New Fabrics

For the frock you wish to make yourself, lovely new fabrics offer themselves as inspiration. If it's to be of formal mien here are stunning velvet brocaded georgettes in superb color combinations and gorgeous metal cloths shot with brilliant tinsel. If it's for afternoon, a lustrous satin or flat crepe in a wine red would be most alluring. And if it's for every hour of the day, there's nothing like navy mirroon or one of the new checked worsteds.

A Touch of Autumn In the Home

With the first hints of autumn in the air, indoors becomes more appealing. Thoughts of a cozy fireside with close-drawn draperies hold an ever-new allure. Now is the time to make your home and fireside more inviting. Smart new draperies, new pillows to add a dash of vividness and a gracious new room awaits you! You'll find autumn furnishings here.

SOON Autumn, cool and invigorating, will be here. Even now women feel that thrill of expectancy, that delicious anticipation of a new fashion season. And well will their eagerness be justified when they view our Exposition of Autumn Fashions.

Throughout the Store everything is fresh and new, everything betokens the long-looked-for arrival of a welcome season. Here the style-interested woman will find gracious new ideas developed in wondrous materials of fascinating shades and designated as Frocks, Coats, Suits. We cordially invite every woman to view them.

Our display windows this week reflect Fashion's foremost tendencies for Fall, 1925.

Curves and Flares Grace Autumn Frocks

There are vitality and animation about these autumn Frocks which are new and interesting. Analyzing them we find they arise from uneven hemlines, cascading draperies, graceful jabots and undulating flares—above all, flares! Flares which fall into rippling, curving lines.

Indeed, every Frock whether of lustrous satin or rough sporty woolen has a fullness to its skirt that's new and charming. And so varied are the ways this fullness is achieved that the autumn mode never lacks interest. Every woman will be delighted with the Exposition Frocks.

SKIRTS are very short and often flaunt uneven hems for animation.

SLEEVES are long and tight with gauntlet cuffs, or have peasant fullness.

NO need to complain of lack of variety in autumn modes. For whatever your type you'll find a silhouette you'll like. Smartness dwells equally in the familiar straight line and in the decidedly new flare which concentrates on back fullness. And in between are graceful versions of side flares, front flares and molded lines. So, come, take your choice. Be smart and be happy!

NECKLINES offer variety. The long V, the high collar; both are smart.

BOLEROS and cape backs assume fashion prominence upon frocks and coats.

Ideas truly Parisian. There are straightline models and models which favor a flare. Sometimes it's an all-around flare upon a fur-bordered coat. Sometimes a flare at each side, or at the back, or one which swings from the shoulders. But always it assumes a prominence that is due as a new and outstanding fashion.

Wraps Lavishly Fur Decked

Richness of color, deep wine reds and hunter's green, shades of plum and warm reddish browns, and richness of fur feature Wraps that this winter will see. In our Autumn Exposition are many stunning ones, some lavishly collared and bordered with silky fox, beaver, baum marten or mink, others adorned with novel fur patches, an

A Fur Scarf for Crisp Fall Days

A smart addition, and a warm one as well, to the autumn costume is the Fur Scarf. Whether of silky fox or softest baum marten, the new Scarfs are most flattering. Prices range from $35 to $150.

Blouses Bonny and New

You may wear your Blouse long or short this fall. Of printed silk or beaded georgette, it may be long enough to be a dress in itself. Or youthfully short it may form a two-piece frock.

Newest Gloves Have Frivolous Cuffs

Flares are contagious, it seems. Echoing the flares of the fall silhouettes, new Gloves indulge their cuffs in the most frivolous of flares, then embroider them in novel ways, $3.50 to $6.00.

Paris Says—“Jabots”

They're seen in smart new ways rippling down frocks and even coats. So of course smart neckwear turns to jabots. Lacy jabot guimpes and cuff sets, $4.95. Organdy and lace jabot collar and cuffs, $2.95.

Pearls Are Smarter Than Ever

The perfect complements to the autumn costume—Pearls! Choker, bracelet and ring of creamy white or delicate pastel in the tint to blend with your costume are fashionable.

What's New in Hose?

Rose, Gray, Mauve, Taupe—don't they sound alluring? And in silken Hose these new shades are just as charming as they sound. All the pinky grays and rosy tans are favored by fashionable hose this autumn.

New Purses Are Colorful

Especially stunning is a flat Handbag of beige leather beautifully tooled and inlaid in color. Others come in tans and grays which exactly match the new gloves and hose.

Daintily Sheer Handkerchiefs

For that final touch of perfection, a blossom-tinted Kerchief is the ideal accessory. Choose them here in fascinating new shapes resembling the petals of a flower. Of daintily sheer linen and voile, 35¢ and more.

Brant Rancho Guernsey Milk and Cream

SAMPLES OF GUERNSEY MILK

and cream sent to the California State Fair at Sacramento this week, from the Brant Rancho, have again been awarded first and second prizes and the Gold and Silver Medals for highest quality in their classes by State Fair officials.

Brant Rancho has been awarded Gold Medals every year for the past ten years for highest quality in its Milk or Cream, and has won more gold medals than any other dairy in the country. At the National Dairy Show the United States Government awarded Brant Rancho Milk and Cream both gold medals, with the two highest and the first and only 100 per cent score ever awarded by the Government. And at a California State Fair Brant Rancho was awarded a second 100 per cent Perfect score. Brant Rancho is the only dairy that has received a 100 per cent score for both milk and cream.

Brant Rancho has the largest herd of pure, registered Guernsey cattle in the world and the only one supplying Los Angeles with Guernsey Milk. This herd is regularly inspected by Federal, State and City inspectors. The milk is produced under the strict regulations of the Los Angeles Health Department, which guarantees its purity.

Brant Rancho Guernsey Milk is far richer than ordinary milk. It has a distinctive rich, creamy flavor and body—a deep yellow color, and a cream line found in no other milk.

The entire supply is consumed by the better clubs, hotels, cafes and hospitals (see list to right.) The home delivery of this milk is made by the Crescent Creamery Company, and, because of the very limited supply of this milk, is confined to the Hollywood district (that territory generally west of Vermont and north of Pico.) Only a few additional orders can be taken at this time, but your name on the waiting list will assure you of earliest delivery.

Three Generations of Women

Since the humble origin of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in 1881, made on a kitchen stove, three generations of women have used this combination of herbs and roots for the ailments with wonderful success. Very often we hear of families where the grandmother, mother and daughter testify to its virtue. This accounts for the astounding growth and demand for this dependable medicine from all over the United States and from many foreign countries as well. [Advertisement]

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

God could not be every where therefore He made mothers—[Jewish Proverb.]

BAD BREATH

Mrs. E. H. had breath in her little girl so doubt arises from her mother concerning the cause. Has she been thoroughly examined to see if there is some physical abnormality causing it?

Please take a rest period each day. Never go to bed at 9 o'clock each night; allow no exciting games before retiring; see that she has at least a quart of milk a day, a few cups of vegetables, fruit juice, etc. Eat whole wheat bread and cereals (cook her cereals and make the bread with milk) one or two eggs and some cold liver oil. See that she is as happy as possible. The chicks did not grow and develop in a normal manner in light transmitted by glass, at least, while dependent on the ultra-violet rays of the sun which do not pass through ordinary glass.

We have a list of modern books on feeding of children, which you may have by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

PROBLEM CHILDREN

Mrs. E. H. will write to the National Committee for the Protection of Children, 577 Seventh Avenue, New York City, they will advise you what to do with your problem boy. Meanwhile, carry out my suggestion program for him. If I have advised you for the little girl in the letter preceding this,

STERILITY AND DIET

"We have been married nineteen months, and so far we have not been blessed with a baby, much to our sorrow. Is there any way to hasten the stork's first visit?"—MRS. R."

It has been found through animal experiments that sterility can be caused by improper diet, one lacking in vitamins, particularly. So look well to your diet. If you are overweight, reduce and if you are underweight, increase your diet.

How about your nutrition? We have a list of modern books on the subject of child feeding. Send for this. (Enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope with request.)

My dear Father: When I send you stamped, self-addressed envelope bearing my name, please place my name on the list of care packages for the soldiers.

GANG CAPTURED IN DOPE DRIVE

Narcotics Valued at $500 Seized on Suspects

Officers Expect Arrests to Reveal Addicts

Total of Seventeen Taken in New Campaign

A gang of narcotic peddlers, declared to have been operating in Los Angeles for months and eluding all efforts to arrest them, were among ten prisoners taken yesterday in the antinarcotic crusade of the police department, according to Detective Lieutenant Littlejohn, who declared the arrest of this gang will bring into the open hundreds of addicts whom they have been supplying with drugs.

Charles Mariano and Joseph "Ju Jo" Marvin are the leaders of the gang, according to Littlejohn, the former a wholesaler and the latter a retailer.

MORPHINE SEIZED

They were arrested with Augustin Tapia, an asserted go-between, and Ray Arronte, held for investigation, at 112½ West Second and Forest avenue where they had met, according to officers, to arrange a deal for a quantity of drugs. In their possession, according to Littlejohn's report, were about $500 worth of opium, morphine, imported, the source of which has not yet been traced.

Others taken yesterday included Duke Anderson, Juan Lopez and his wife, taken at Third and Fremont streets, and Mrs. Cora Kilpatrick, Bob Jones and Mrs. Beatrice Bryant, negroes. The negroes were arrested by officers of the Revenue Department, who are led by Lieut. Littlejohn and Officers Thorington, Yokum and Cadel. All except Arronte and Mrs. Bryant are to be charged with violation of the State law, which now is a felony, and if convicted, will be sent to San Quentin.

SEVENTEEN PRISONERS

The negro Jones, in addition to bundles of morphine and cocaine, had a razor in his left shoe, the officers declared.

The new campaign was begun, it was said, in an effort to protect school children, among whom narcotic peddlers have found victims in the past. With yesterday's arrests, the total of seventeen prisoners has been taken in the new drive.

SUPPOSED NARCOTIC PEDDLER CAUGHT

George Smith, notorious hot-dog man of Central Avenue, found himself in the County Jail again yesterday after Federal narcotic agents had arrested him at Twentieth street and Central avenue following an important transaction in money.

Late yesterday afternoon the Federal grand jury reported to Federal Judge Henning that it had indicted Smith on a charge of violating the Harrison Narcotic Act. Bond was set at $20,000.

The agents declared Smith sold them ten ounces of morphine, for which he paid him $500 in marked bills.

Two cases are pending against Smith in the Federal courts. He was arrested about a year ago on a charge of possession of narcotics, when the police arrested him on a $10 deal, turning the case over to the Federal agents. Smith paid off these cases totals $1500. Both of $20,000 were demanded for his freedom after yesterday's transaction.

The arrest was made by San Francisco agents. Smith having become too well acquainted with the local officers to do business with them.

According to the officers, Smith has made addictions of himself of negro youth, holding them practically captive by their desire for drugs, and using them to distribute his bindles.

Judge Elliott Craig was made presiding Judge of the Superior Court yesterday at a meeting of the judges of the court, to succeed Judge L. H. Valentine for the balance of the year. Judge Valentine had suggested that he be relieved of the presidency of the court because of the condition of his health.

The next regular selection for the presidency will be made at the end of the year, when Judge Stephens is slated to take the position as a Department Ten, which goes with it.

Judge Craig, who is one of the youngest members of the Superior Court bench, has served as presiding judge for several months last spring, when the demands of the calendar in his own department made it imperative that he assume it. Since that time various judges have acted, principally Judges Hollister and Willis.

Matchmaker in Balm Case Given
Blame by Man

Denying he ever promised to marry, M. J. Phillipson has filed an answer to the suit for $25,000 damages for asserted breach of promise filed against him by Rose Joseph.

Miss Joseph asserted in her complaint she and Phillipson became engaged November 20, 1924, to be married late in December. She declared Phillipson refused to carry out his asserted promise.

Phillipson denied he was ever engaged to the plaintiff and blamed a person he described as a "professor" of psychology for the breach-of-promise suit. This person, he stated, induced him to meet the plaintiff and Phillipson said he met her later on several occasions because he believed she gave her any reason to believe he would marry her. When the plaintiff learned he had married another, Phillipson stated, she filed her breach-of-promise suit against him.

Judge Elliott Craig was made presiding Judge of the Superior Court yesterday at a meeting of the judges of the court, to succeed Judge L. H. Valentine for the balance of the year. Judge Valentine had suggested that he be relieved of the presidency of the court because of the condition of his health.

The next regular selection for the presidency will be made at the end of the year, when Judge Stephens is slated to take the position as a Department Ten, which goes with it.

Blame by Man

Denying he ever promised to marry, M. J. Phillipson has filed an answer to the suit for $25,000 damages for asserted breach of promise filed against him by Rose Joseph.

Miss Joseph asserted in her complaint she and Phillipson became engaged November 20, 1924, to be married late in December. She declared Phillipson refused to carry out his asserted promise.

Phillipson denied he was ever engaged to the plaintiff and blamed a person he described as a "professor" of psychology for the breach-of-promise suit. This person, he stated, induced him to meet the plaintiff and Phillipson said he met her later on several occasions because he believed she gave her any reason to believe he would marry her. When the plaintiff learned he had married another, Phillipson stated, she filed her breach-of-promise suit against him.

FLASHES WILL LISTEN IN GEORGE M. COHAN HIMSELF TO HEAR "NELLIE KELLY"

By Grace Kingsley Maybes you won't know that George M. Cohen is present on Monday evening at the Playhouse when "Little Nellie Kelly" goes on; but he will be all the same. That is, in spirit! Because he is to listen in over long-distance telephone and to the performance of Louis O. MacLean's production of the musical comedy.

And if you don't believe it, you are to be permitted to walk down the aisle of the theater and speak to Cohen yourself! MacLean has arranged with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company for special wire from New York City to connect with a telephone that will be installed in the orchestra pit at the Playhouse. Mr. Cohen will not have to go to any supper club on that evening. The play will end at 8:30 p.m. here, which is 12:30 a.m. in New York. MacLean himself will be the first to talk to Cohen, and then he will announce the celebrities as they come into the theater. After which another who would like to speak to Cohen may step right up and do so.

Cohen himself admits that "Little Nellie Kelly" is the best musical comedy he has produced, and as though he has heard the comedy many times, he doesn't in the least mind listening to it once more.

The first dress rehearsal of the play was given last evening, and both Mr. MacLean and Lillian Albertson wore those broad smiles assumed only by producing managers when they know they have a sure thing. Not only did the adding-machine critic out in the box office record a long list of society folk, motion-picture stars, directors and producers who are going to brighten up the Playhouse on Monday night.

F.B.O. WILL FILM ROOSEVELT'S LIFE

While the producers are all by way of making historical pictures, F.B.O. sees no reason why they should not make one of the neglected. Wherefore that firm is announcing that a picture relating the important and dramatic episodes in Roosevelt's life will be finished by the end of its leading pictures for the 1925 program. J. L. Schmitz made the announcement, following his arrival from the executive offices of the company, and Mr. Schmitz himself is now conferring with General Studio Manager R. P. Finegan and Scenario Editor John Brownell on details of the production, which is to be started this fall.

The picture is to be produced in such wise, says Mr. Schmitz, as to give it tremendous entertainment value. It will be the endeavor of the producers to give to the picture all the color, drama and dynamic quality with which the career of the noted statesman was invested, and to present it in absolute fidelity, all the facts of his life, both those that are historically important and those which are of a more intimate and personal nature.

"The close of such a career as that of Roosevelt is now sufficiently removed for us to obtain a perspective," declared Mr. Schmitz. "He is man as he belongs to history, never to be forgotten; and it will be our purpose to give to the motion picture a painstaking delineation of the man who did so much to make this country great in the councils of world power."

The research department at F.B.O. studios has access to some of Roosevelt's papers which have not previously been used, according to announcement, besides which that department is now working on a mass of biographical data; but it will be a month or more before this material is in shape to turn over to the scenario department.

Naturally, everybody will be on the qui vive to know who is to play the distinguished role of Cool Roosevelt; and while the matter is practically settled, say F.B.O. officials, they are not yet willing to announce the name of the fortunate actor.

FLASHES WILL LISTEN IN GEORGE M. COHAN HIMSELF TO HEAR "NELLIE KELLY"

By Grace Kingsley Maybes you won't know that George M. Cohen is present on Monday evening at the Playhouse when "Little Nellie Kelly" goes on; but he will be all the same. That is, in spirit! Because he is to listen in over long-distance telephone and to the performance of Louis O. MacLean's production of the musical comedy.

And if you don't believe it, you are to be permitted to walk down the aisle of the theater and speak to Cohen yourself! MacLean has arranged with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company for special wire from New York City to connect with a telephone that will be installed in the orchestra pit at the Playhouse. President, Wilbur and Davis
Talk Over Situation at White House

ands of Army Expected to Act on Air Criticism in Accord With Law

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—President Coolidge today dispelled all fears that he will interfere in any way with the orderly progress of the investigation started by Acting Secretary of War Davis to determine the administrative and national defense by the Army and Navy. The White House spokesman said it is clear that the President acts the War Department to such action as the law governing the Army may require. After it has been done, the case of Mitchell will come to him for final determination.

In the latest broadsides of Mitchell did not come up for discussion in today's Cabinet meeting, the first since the incident left for Swampscott a week ago, Secretary of the War, Wilbur and Acting Secretary Davis remained at the executive offices for some time after members had departed.

The President has made it clear that the President acts the War Department to such action as the law governing the Army may require. After it has been done, the case of Mitchell will come to him for final determination.
